Mr. Chan Ka Ho

Message from our President – Campbell TING

Welcome to the 1st issue of 2018 “Progress”, the official publication of JCI Queensway! “Progress” means the improvement to a better state. In JCI Queensway, we always strive to widen our horizons beyond our dreams. And it comes to our 2018 slogan “Connect the world”.

JCI Queensway will connect with her chapter members, the local chapters and other overseas parties and work together as a team in 2018. We will listen carefully, connect firmly and accept graciously. Connection will also be made between us, the local community and teenagers through promoting health development of the youth in the society. It is health that is beyond real wealth.

Therefore, our publication team aims to provide a brand new adventure to our loyal and new readers. We have articles on health development, students’ sharing sustainable development goals, members’ sharing on leadership and international affairs and a recap of JCI Queensway in 2017!

Let’s start your journey to JCI Queensway by reading our publication - the first issue of 2018 “Progress”. We wish to have you whilst we are progressing.

Message from National President – Senator Ronald KAN

Our journey for 2018 has begun, and we are off to many memorable and transformative days ahead!

This year I encourage you all to take charge of your destiny and make it your goal to live dynamically. JCI is an amazing platform that can change your lives by discovering and fine-tuning our innate talents, and then applying them to serve humanity. This positive attitude for living is the power behind the national theme for 2018, Beyond BeLive.

One main focus for NOM in 2018 is in further strengthening our international network, particularly in connecting with Belt and Road countries and their people. A Belt and Road International Youth Summit will be hosted by JCIHK in April of this year and we encourage all members to attend and benefit from this experience. We are very excited that JCI Queensway will continue her own Belt and Road initiative in 2018 with the business exchange program with your sister chapter from Malaysia. This is a great step to empower members to gain increased global exposure.

Members are always the most important assets of any organization. JCI Queensway had a fantastic growth last year with many outstanding new members joining our JCI family. One of the main reasons young people join JCI is to learn and I urge you all to take chances and grab opportunities as they arise to challenge yourselves and breakthrough any barriers. In JCI and in life, it is always up to the individual member to step up and get involved before any benefits can be harvested. But with your dedication to impacting and changing the world as well as changing yourselves, I have no doubt JCI will provide each of you with a fruitful and joyful journey.

Thank you to the continued support of JCI Queensway. I am looking forward to see the impact of your upcoming projects including the charity run, community development project, and healthcare and public speaking workshops. President Campbell is a capable and passionate individual whose theme “Connect the World” will surely take JCI Queensway to new levels and far away lands!

Let us strive to transform our lives this year! Beyond BeLIVE!

Message
from the National Assigned Executive Officer –
Senator Victor LAM

“TIME Magazine”, a very influential global publication, announces its “Word of the Year” every year and it catches the eyeballs of every global citizen! In 2018, another influential magazine in Hong Kong, powered by JCI Queensway – “PROGRESS”, announced its “word of the year” - “CONNECT”!

I love the name “PROGRESS” very much, as it signifies our JCI Mission of “empower young people to create positive change”! Everyone who joins JC is looking for development opportunities and positive change, and positive change starts by little progress!

As the awardee of “JCIHK 2017 Outstanding Progressive LOM Award”, JCI Queensway actualizes what “Progress” means and there were many breakthroughs in 2017! In 2018, JCI Queensway will continue to “PROGRESS” and under the leadership of President Campbell, he will “PROGRESS” by CONNECTING JCI Queensway with SDGs, CONNECTING SDGs with Hong Kong Community and CONNECTING Hong Kong Community with our Global village!

So how to get CONNECTED? As a health professional, President Campbell will lead his team to connect the world with “health” - “physical health”, “mental health” and “spiritual health”. There will be a brand-new Community Development project on “Youth depression” and Business Development project on “Social Enterprise Internship Program”, on top of “JCIHK Public Speaking project”, “One-belt-one-road Malaysia Cultural Exchange Trip” and “10km charity running event” which were very successful in the past!

For JCI Queensway, “PROGRESS” is an attitude and “CONNECT” is inside the DNA of every Queensway member! Let’s PROGRESS by CONNECTING with more external partners and stakeholders in Hong Kong and other parts of the world!

Transforming through Passion and Satisfaction – Connecting with Hong Kong’s Top Middle-Distance Runner

Mr. Chan Ka Ho

In the third issue of Harbour Light, Mr. Chan Ka-ho, Hong Kong’s top middle distance runner, shared his insight on running. Many readers crave more from Mr. Chan, a bright star shined in the 10-km event in Standard Chartered Hong Kong Marathon 2017. An interesting fact to note is, if he had not started running, he would have been a gangster. So how did running change his life?

Q: Why did you start running?

I started running when I was 16 years old. When I was younger, I found playing football was more exciting. It is in fact the sense of achievement moved my focus from football to running. During my high school life, I won medals in both 1500-meter and 3000-meter races. Later I went practising with my schoolmates, Sometimes I had to travel from Tai Po to Tsing Yi just for training.

Q: How can running change one’s life?

In fact running has trained not only my endurance, but also perseverance. Running can also help transform students’ lives and ignite their passion. Some teenagers can go astray easily. They hang out with gangs. Some of them are even night-drifters. It is crucial for them to develop a habit which can bring changes to their lives.

Q: What is the most memorable moment in your running career?

Actually there are plenty of memorable moments in my running career. In 2006, I joined the half marathon held in Osaka. In the middle of the race, it snowed. Although it was really challenging, I eventually made it and broke the Hong Kong record.

Another most memorable moment in my running career is that in 2016, I joined another marathon in North Pole. This was really a precious chance since only 50 people around the world can join this contest. Coincidentally it was my birthday. We had a birthday celebration with a birthday cake in the Nordic world.

Q: As a professional sportsman, do you follow a strict diet?

Actually I always feel that I'm not just a professional sportsman. I'm also an ordinary person. I also like buffet and hotpot. Food is a kind of relief. But before any competition, I would observe strictly on my intake of carbohydrates, salt and oil.

My wife Christy also helps me a lot on maintaining a balanced diet. She also gives an array of useful advice on nutrition as she is an expert on that field. She would sometimes ask me take some more fruits as it contains a lot of anti-oxidants. She will also supply me with abundant health supplements to ensure that I have all the vitamins needed.

Q: Nowadays many Hong Kongers join half-marathons or marathons. Any advice for them?

I would say it is a good trend for Hong Kongers to become more health conscious. Meanwhile, they also have to be very cautious. Marathon is a long-distance running. Rome can't be built by just a day. They shouldn't start running for a few weeks and then go for marathon races. They should do it slowly and start from shorter distances like 5 kilometers or even 10 milometers. After you have achieved that, aim higher next time and strive for better performance.

Beyond Belive – Interview with National President Senator Ronald KAN

Everyone in JCIHK should have known Senator Ronald KAN – our National President. Apart from his professional and extensive knowledge in law, he has also worked jointly and closely with the government and various professional organizations in striving for a better future for Hong Kong, as well as our future generation.

It may surprise some of our young readers - National President Senator Ronald Kan was also our National Assigned Executive Officer in 2013! Let's hear some of his thoughts on JCI Queensway!

Q: When did you start getting closer connection with JCI Queensway?

I believe the moment came when I was appointed as the National Assigned Executive Officer of JCI Queensway in 2013. That year I worked closely with Past President Leo Ng. That is also one of most memorable moments I spent with JCI Queensway. I enjoyed the moment to chill with Past President Leo so much after meetings. It's genuinely 'work hard, play hard'.

Q: What is your feeling towards JCI Queensway?

JCI Queensway is always a very warm family in my eyes. Everyone here is well connected with one another. Hearts are connected not merely because of chapter affairs or projects, but also through various gatherings. Such kinship is precious and makes JCI Queensway unique. I hope this tradition will be passed on from one generation to another.

Q: Regarding the plan of JCIHK in 2018, we know that retention is a key element. Would you mind sharing more on this idea with us?

We noticed that many of our members usually gain and learn a lot in the first year in JC; however, they start feeling that they can't further their learning after one to three years. Actually it's a rather pathetic phenomenon since we have provided so many resources on training and grooming our future leaders. We hope that they can stay. We hope that they can fine-tune their learning and groom another next generation of future leaders.

Hence, this year we are hosting coaching classes. We hope that through coaching classes our members, especially executive committees of different chapters can be equipped with skills of unlocking others' potentials. We also hope that these skills can also help our members at their workplace. We hope our members to understand that at every stage of their JC journey, they can learn and be equipped with different skills which are useful not only in our organization, but also in their lives.

Q: 2017 was a fruitful year for JCI Queensway. How can we achieve more in 2018?

As I have mentioned before, JCI Queensway is always a warm family. I can see there are a lot of outstanding members here. We have many energetic young members joining JCI Queensway. It makes JCI Queensway more lively and energetic than ever. Meanwhile, JCI Queensway can also bring more past presidents involved in her chapter affairs, projects and activities. With their experience and active participation, I am sure JCI Queensway can achieve with flying colors in coming years.

After hearing National President Senator Ronald Kan's feeling towards us, let's also hear some of our sharing and inspiration from our National President!

National Secretary General Delegate & National Assigned Executive Officer Senator Victor LAM

Among all the memories we shared, the most memorable one is when he was representing JCIHK in 2013 in witnessing my signing of JCI Boai – a sister chapter in Taiwan. We have his footprint in our history!

JCI Queensway President Campbell TING

We are in the same group during Presidential Academy. Groupmates including NP Senator Ronald were discussing the midnight assignment "Promotion of creative industry through one belt one road initiative". NP was both resourceful and detail-minded in providing direction and encouraged us to propose ideas during the long night.

Immediate Past President Terry CHAN

When I was having my Prospective Member interview in 2013, NP Senator Ronald (then NAO of JCI Queensway) was there and witnessed my growth in JCI. Thank you NP!

Past President Leo NG

NP Senator Ronald was the NAO assigned to Queensway in 2013, my presidential year. He was not just an NAO, but also a good friend, an advisor and a mentor. I could still remember many private gatherings with him. One of which was held at a congee shop in Mei Foo, when I encountered some difficulties in chapter management. He listened to me, shared his experience and gave me practical advice. With his support, Queensway and I had a fruitful year in 2013!

Vice President (International Affairs & Public Relations) Tiffany LEUNG

I love his smiles. They are warm and encouraging.

Honorary Secretary Tany KWEE

NP Senator Ronald is a beacon in my eyes. He guides us not only in chapter and international affairs, but also in journey of life.

Campbell – More than canned soups

We all grow up with Campbell's - delicious canned soups ready to eat whenever we are. Whatever your taste, we have a soup to warm your day. How does our President Campbell resemble such similarity? How does our President Campbell plan to spice up our lives in JCI Queensway?

Q: We knew that you joined JCI Queensway in 2014. Why were you interested in joining JCI Queensway at that time?

Service to humanity is my dream since I was young. I am currently working in public services sector, especially in safeguarding food safety and public health. It gives me chances to improve the living standard of our citizens through interaction with the public. Nonetheless, I would like to contribute more to the society during my leisure time. Then I was introduced to JCI with its vision and mission by past presidents. Joining JCI Queensway would definitely provide me with a platform for engaging more in the community.

Q: We are sure that you have lots of precious memories with JCI Queensway. What is your most memorable moment in Queensway?

There are definitely a lot of special and unforgettable moments in JCI Queensway. For sure the first event springing in my mind is being a helper in President Academy. Another event that made me burst into both laughter and tears is that I represented JCI Queensway to join JCI Quiz. With our hard work and grit, we won the 2nd runner-up in the Rising Cup.

Q: Apart from memories in JCI Queensway, how does your participation during your service as a Vice-president of the international affairs area spice up your JC life?

Engaging in HK night during ASPAC is for sure ignited my 'IA passion' when I was served as the Vice-president of the International Affairs area. Whilst joining the fully packed program, we also prepared some local street food and mini-games for all delegates from Asia and Pacific region. That's definitely amazing.

Q: As the President, what kind of challenges can you foresee in future?

We always struggle to step out of our comfort zone. It is a very precious chance to become the President. I commit and serve. So every morning I whisper in my heart a few times that I need to, and have to step out of my comfort zone to learn more. With the hope to build friendship and network with different stakeholders, I wish to be equipped with a wide range of skills to serve and contribute to JCI Queensway and the society. It is also a way to fulfil my dream – service to humanity!

Teenagers' Voices on Sustainable Development Goals

The Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) are a collection of 17 interrelated global goals set out by the United Nations. Each of the goals has several targets. These goals are closely related to our lives, as well as our future generation. How do the Millennials respond to these goals?

Quality Education

Quality Education is so important that every child should have right to receive education. Apparently, not all children in the world can have equal access to free education. In some developing countries, literacy rate is still very low. Being a literate is a key to fight against cross-generation poverty.

Herman CHAN

Life Below Water

70% of our global is covered with water. Water is our most important resource on the earth. We can't live without water. It is not only important to protect our ocean, but also fresh water resources. We should also do our utmost to protect biodiversity and different kinds of marine creatures.

Kaybe TSOI

Climate Action

Originally I thought climate change is just a topic in our Liberal Studies textbooks. When I realize how devastating climate-related disasters are, I understand fully that we cannot just sit back. Global warming affects not only us, but also many endangered species. They may be extinct. I support Goal 13 Climate Action.

Calvin SHEK

Affordable and Clean Energy

In our lessons, we always debate on motions like whether we should use fossil fuels. My question is whether it is possible to rely solely on renewable energy sources. With an alarming fact that the global emission of carbon dioxide has been increase for more than 40% since 1990, we must consider alternative energy sources. Scientists should develop more advanced and sophisticated devices so as to make people access to clean energy sources more easily and conveniently.

Kelvin CHAN

Partnerships for the goals

We can never achieve success by working alone. We need to raise awareness of the general public. We, as students, should bring the messages about sustainability to our schoolmates, friends and family. We should also forge closer bonding between different organizations so as to put collaborative effort into promotion and execution of these goals. Action NOW!

On behalf of JCI Queensway, 2017 President Terry CHAN delivers his heartfelt gratitude to the enormous support from JCI Hong Kong and all affiliated local chapters. Sharing from the awardees in National Convention

Let's hear the awardees about how they feel!

Most Outstanding Chapter President (25–55 members) Merit - Immediate Past President Terry CHAN

“The Success is not mine, but my team’s”

As the 1st President being awarded one of the “Most Outstanding Chapter President” in JCI Hong Kong in the 33-year history of JCI Queensway, I have to thank not myself, but my dear 2017 teammates who contributed great efforts to the chapter and to the members. Without their concerted efforts, the chapter could not reach another new height in 2017, let alone myself.

2017 is the most wonderful year in my life so far. Although we made history, we cannot be complacent. History is not only for our reference, but also for us to break. Every member in JCI Queensway is similar to Terry, who is a young citizen aged between 18 and 40. If Terry can break the history, it means you can break the history as well. The difference is just whether you take action or not.

JCI is like a box. If we put our hand deeper inside the box to explore the darkness, we will get more things out, or vice versa. We can make our own colorful and successful future. Your exploration will award. Wish you a wonderful journey ahead.

Most Outstanding New Member - Honorary Secretary Tany KWEE

This was a very auspicious moment for me as many JCI Queensway members all gathered together in the National Convention to celebrate not only the success of any single person, but also the achievements of JCI Queensway.

I joined JCI Queensway a year ago. Time flies. Throughout my Jaycee journey, I am always grateful to have all the friends and mentors guiding me like the stars in the sky, showing me the direction and making me feel that I would never walk alone. Thank you for trusting me and having faith in me that I would commit, learn and blossom. From being led to leading, although the upcoming challenges could be rough, with the love and support from my Queensway family, I am sure I will be able to take up these challenges more readily and proactively.

In faith we serve.
