Sacrifice The Plum Tree To Preserve The Peach Tree

There are circumstances in which you must sacrifice short-term objectives in order to gain the long-term goal. This is the scapegoat strategy whereby someone else carries the consequence that the rest do not. This does not mean losing a battle in order to win the war, or making a concession in order to achieve the main goal.

Message from the Editor

Thank you for picking up the 2nd issue of "Progress", JCI Queensway's official publication. This wonderful piece of group work will serve to inspire, enlighten and inform.

In this issue, we have an interview with Tony IP, a pioneer green architect in Hong Kong. Tony will share his road to becoming a green architect and his vision of a more livable and sustainable Hong Kong. We hope Tony's sharing will inspire more people, in Hong Kong and beyond, to create positive changes to the environment.

We are also privileged to conduct an interview with Senator Dawn HETZEL, JCI World President. In the interview, World President will share her enlightening views, from a leader's perspective, on JCI, social issues and something about herself.

Last but not least, we have brief stories about the events and activities organised by JCI Queensway in the previous months, sharing by prospective members, and our milestone achievements in 2017. If you want to know more about JCI Queensway, the information in these parts will be your best helpers.

The publication of this issue is made possible thanks to the contribution of our elite publication team: Senator Joseph LEE, a Senior Member of JCI Queensway and Amber TAM, Publication Officer. Our teamwork demonstrates the implementation of "United We Fly", the 2017 chapter slogan of JCI Queensway.

Finally, we hope you enjoy this publication. If you want to have a say in our next issue or in our future events, you are always welcome to be part of our big family!

JCI CREED

We believe . . .

That faith in God gives meaning and purpose to human life,

That the brotherhood of man transcends the sovereignty of nations,

That economic justice can best be won by free men through free enterprise,

That government should be of laws rather than of men,

That earth's great treasure lies in human personality,

And that service to humanity is the best work of life."

JCI MISSION

To provide development opportunities that empower young people to create positive change.

JCI VISION

To be the leading global network of young active citizens.

Message from the President

Welcome to see the “Progress” ! It is the official publication of JCI Queensway, and especially it is the second issue of 2017, which means that it inherits the past and ushers in the future.

The 2017 chapter slogan of JCI Queensway is “United We Fly” .This is a people-oriented direction manifested in each of the words of the slogan. “United” means that members of various professional backgrounds are united here. “We” means you and me, focusing on teamwork. “Fly” is an action verb, aiming to bring JCI Queensway to reach another new height.

In this connection, what are the relations between the “Progress” and “United We Fly” ? It is an energetic, pleasant and vivid record of the journey of JCI Queensway’s members in the previous few months of 2017. We enjoyed the moments and fellowship by JCI both locally and internationally, including some highlighted events like Charity FUNdraising Running, International Business Tour to Kuala Lumpur, JCI Hong Kong Public Speaking Contest, etc. We also share the spirit of JCI — “to service to humanity is the best work of life” . With both physical action and mental mind, we believe “United We Fly” .

In the 2017 second issue of “Progress” , we would like to share our joy with you as well. Enjoy the “Progress” and wish to see you in our family!

Message from the National President

“If I were given the opportunity to present a gift to the next generation…”

Growing up in the generation with dizzying technology change, in a range of many areas, millennials have jumped out in front of other elder generations.

We are the most diverse group which are more tolerant of races and agree to improve the position of minorities. We are considered multitaskers extraordinaire who simultaneously check text messages, attend a meeting, and browse websites. We think starting a business can look very appealing and launch most numbers of startups in the history. If I were given the opportunity to present a gift to the next generation (The Generation Z), it would be the ability to serve and to love humanity. The last sentence of JCI Creed that we always recite – “We believe that Service to Humanity is the Best Work of Life” , shows the fact that nothing truly valuable can be achieved except many individuals cooperate together without making themselves as the priorities. If you want to be loved, you need to love others first. If you want to get successful, you need to assist others to achieve success first. If you don’t want to be lonely in your life, you have to accompany some lonely elderly first. A better world can be only achieved when everyone of us regards serving humanity as their mission in their life.

In JCI, millennial group can link up different sectors such as NGOs, governments and communities with innovative ideas. We could make our own decision here and find like-minded millennials in JCI platform to further transform our community and our world to be a better one. Without the interfere of politics and religions, we could transcend obstacles of communication and focus on the solid work for the good of our society.

If I were given the opportunity to present a gift to the next generation, it would be joining JCI.

We welcome you, millennials to join our JCI family!

Message from the National Assigned Executive Officer

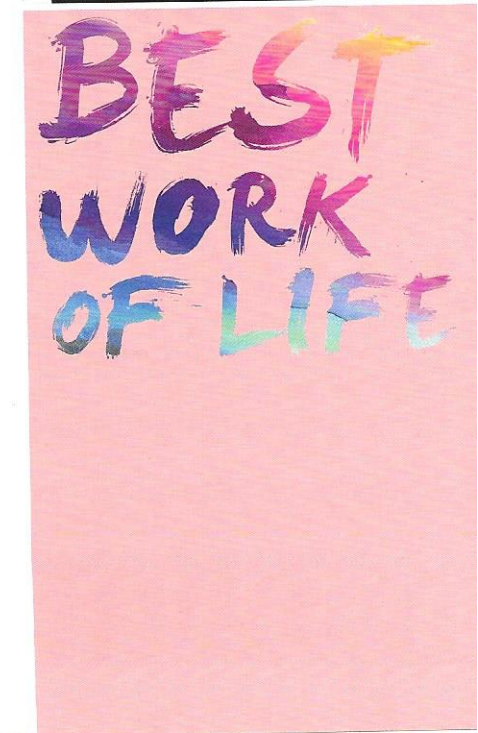

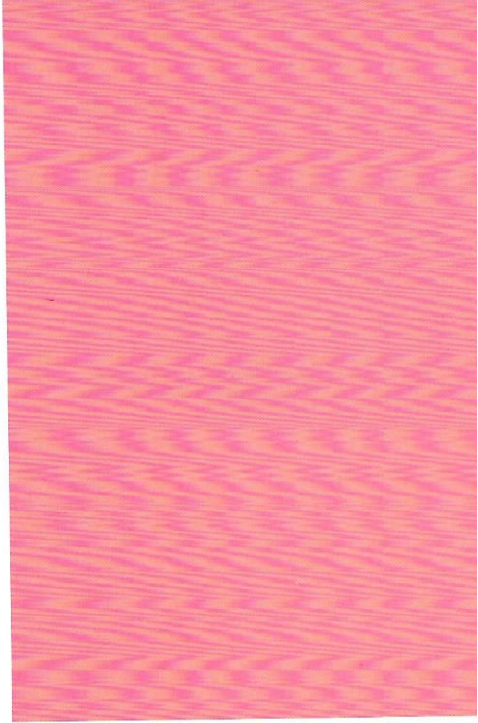

It is quite common for those of us stuck in the daily 9-6 grind to forget our dreams and passions. We are lucky to be living in a place where we are not struggling to meet our basic needs. So what excuse do we have to exist as just a passive bundle of molecules rather than challenging ourselves and taking risks to become better? “I’d rather choke on greatness than nibble on mediocrity.” (Unknown)

Don’t waste any more time! Take action and make a leap towards your dreams! The only way to reach your goals is to take that first step and then grab all opportunities that come your direction. “You can’t learn to play soccer by reading the rulebook, you can’t learn to play the piano by studying sheets of music, and you can’t learn to cook by reading recipes. Likewise, you can read as many books on leadership as you want, but until you experience the challenges that face real leaders, you will never be prepared to take charge.” (Tina Seelig) I have been really blessed in my JCI life to be provided with countless learning opportunities that have changed me for the better and I hope that all of you will make use of the JCI platform to transform yourselves as well.

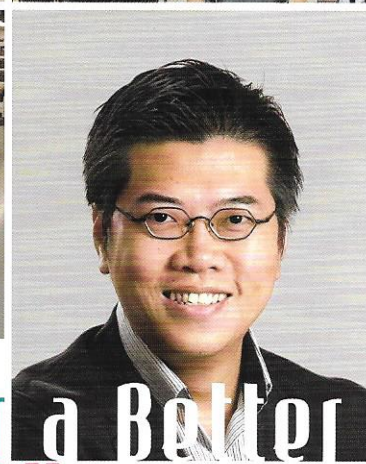

Thank you to JCI Queensway for providing the tools and support for her members to have continual learning and important breakthroughs. It is evident that the strong unity and determined spirit this year has led to significant growth and development both to the chapter and to the individual members. I am looking forward to seeing the impact of your upcoming community initiatives!

Keep persevering! Impossible is nothing!

Mr. IP Chung Man, Tony, a community-centric, sustainable design architect and urban designer. His passion and contributions to green architecture have been highly recognized by receiving Ten Outstanding Young Persons Award 2016, EcoStar Award 2014 and HKIA Young Architect Award 2010. His design and research were exhibited and presented in Venice, London, Copenhagen, Taiwan, Singapore and Hong Kong. His recent projects include ZCB and VTC THEi Chai Wan campus.

A Dream for a Better Hong Kong

Green Architect Mr. Tony IP

Foreword

A knowledgeable architect and a recipient of the Ten Outstanding Young Persons Award in 2016, Tony IP always has a dream for a better Hong Kong: more environmental-friendly, more energy-saving, and most important of all, more livable.

The Path to becoming an Architect

Since he was very young, Tony developed a strong interest in design and drawing. Living in Sham Shui Po in the teenage period, a district crowded with the working class of Hong Kong society, watching cartoon was one of Tony's hobbies in his leisure time. The funny cartoon characters, according to Tony, were the source of his love for design and drawing.

Wishing to become an architect, Tony took Arts in a secondary school public exam and studied this subject by himself. The experience further strengthened his belief that architecture is an important and grand cause.

Tony's road to becoming an architect is not one without challenges. He first studied engineering at the university. After that, he continued to obtain a number of degrees of different disciplines. Eventually, Tony realised his dream of reading architecture at the University of Hong Kong and became a registered architect in Hong Kong.

Architecture for Environmental Sustainability

After becoming an architect, Tony has a new dream, that is, make use of architecture to help regenerate the environment. Tony's new dream originated from his travel experience to the South American. In the summer of 2004, Tony won a student traveling scholarship from the Hong Kong Institute of Architects which funded a 16-day trip to more than 10 cities in the western hemisphere.

Curitiba, a Brazilian city dubbed the most sustainable city of the world, as it then was, impressed Tony with the quality of its citizens, the tidiness of its streets, and its rubbish recycling system. The mayor of the city was an architect who has a clear vision of building an environmental-friendly city. The mayor's administration won huge public support and contributed to at least three successful re-elections.

Inspired by that travel experience, Tony wonders there shall be a way for the nature and human beings to co-exist and achieve a win-win. He then shared his thoughts with and got further inspired by many people, one of whom was Wong Kam-sing, Secretary for the Environment of the Hong Kong SAR. Finally, Tony realised that it is of utmost importance for Hong Kong, a high-rise and high-density city, to protect its environment.

Vision for an Environmental-friendly Hong Kong
 Tony's vision for a more environmental-friendly Hong Kong comprises three parts. First, a green neighbourhood and green community should be promoted. To this end, behaviour change ought to be encouraged among the Hong Kong people. This is the key to success in promoting environment protection in Hong Kong.

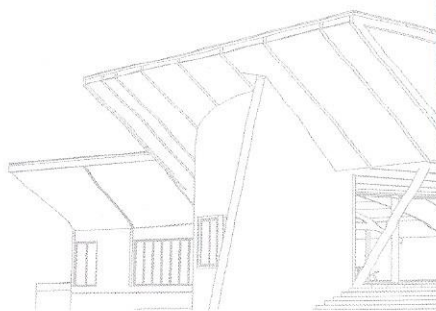

Second, a balance should be struck between the people and the nature so that the two can co-exist. Our daily consumption of energy is affecting the earth. We can all do more in integrating our daily life with the nature.

Third, urban re-development can serve to promote environmental protection. Many buildings in Hong Kong are very old as they were constructed a long time ago. When planning re-development for our community, elements of environmental protection can be given priority to make our community more livable and sustainable.

Promoting Green Architecture in Hong Kong

Implementing the vision into practice is the final step in promoting green architecture in Hong Kong. Tony is Vice Chair of Hong Kong Architecture Centre, a non-profit organisation that aims at creating interaction between architecture and the general public in Hong Kong. One of the activities of that organisation is tours for people to see architecture with elements of cultural, historical and environmental conservation.

A number of activities by Hong Kong Green Building Council with Tony's involvement, such as a Student Ambassador Programme, Secondary Students Green Idea Pitch and Green Architecture Design Contest for Primary and Secondary Students, are also held to achieve the vision of building a more environmental-friendly Hong Kong.

Words for the Hong Kong Young People

The young people are the future of Hong Kong. Tony hopes that we all have clear goals and vision in our lives and career. We should then pursue our dreams and overcome the challenges ahead.

Besides, Tony advised that we should make friends with those who share the same values or aspirations with us. Finally, Tony encourages us to contribute to society and preserve the nature for a sustainable and livable environment.

Conclusion

Building a more livable and sustainable community is never an easy task. Big things all have small beginnings. Tony's sharing and experience in promoting environmental sustainability and green architecture will sow the seeds of preserving the environment in all of us. When we all work towards the same goal, the dream of building a more environmental-friendly Hong Kong will be realised in a foreseeable future.

Always Give Back

We are very honoured to have the JCI World President, Senator Dawn Hetzel to share with us her insights and visions.

Dawn Hetzel joined JCI Indianapolis, Indiana and JCI USA in 2007. She served as Local Chapter President in 2008 and as State President of JCI Indiana in 2009. Dawn went on to serve JCI USA including General Legal Counsel in 2011, National Vice President in 2012. Then Dawn was the JCI General Legal Counsel for 2013, and JCI Executive Vice President in 2014 and was assigned to the Americas.

JCI World President,
Senator Dawn HETZEL

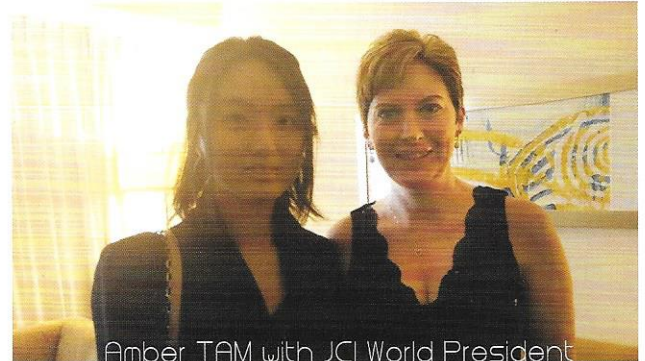

What do you think the most important function of JCI?

In JCI, we unite different parts of the society, forming relationships, fostering partnerships between NGO, business, local government, and national government, all of the relationship. We create links between all of the different networks, when they all come together, when everybody works together, when everybody has a piece of puzzle, we can create a better future tomorrow.

So to create greater impact, collaboration is important, internally within JCI between local chapters in Hong Kong and internationally outside of JCI, bringing outside partners, into help us as well.

What is the idea behind your slogan "You are JCI, I'm JCI, We are JCI" ?

The idea is to really take ownership of who we are as an organization. I'm JCI, it is my organization, it's my turn, it's my responsibility, it is not somebody else's responsibility, that was the idea of the slogan to help all JCI members to relate and have that unique identity of who we are as active citizens, and what we do in the world.

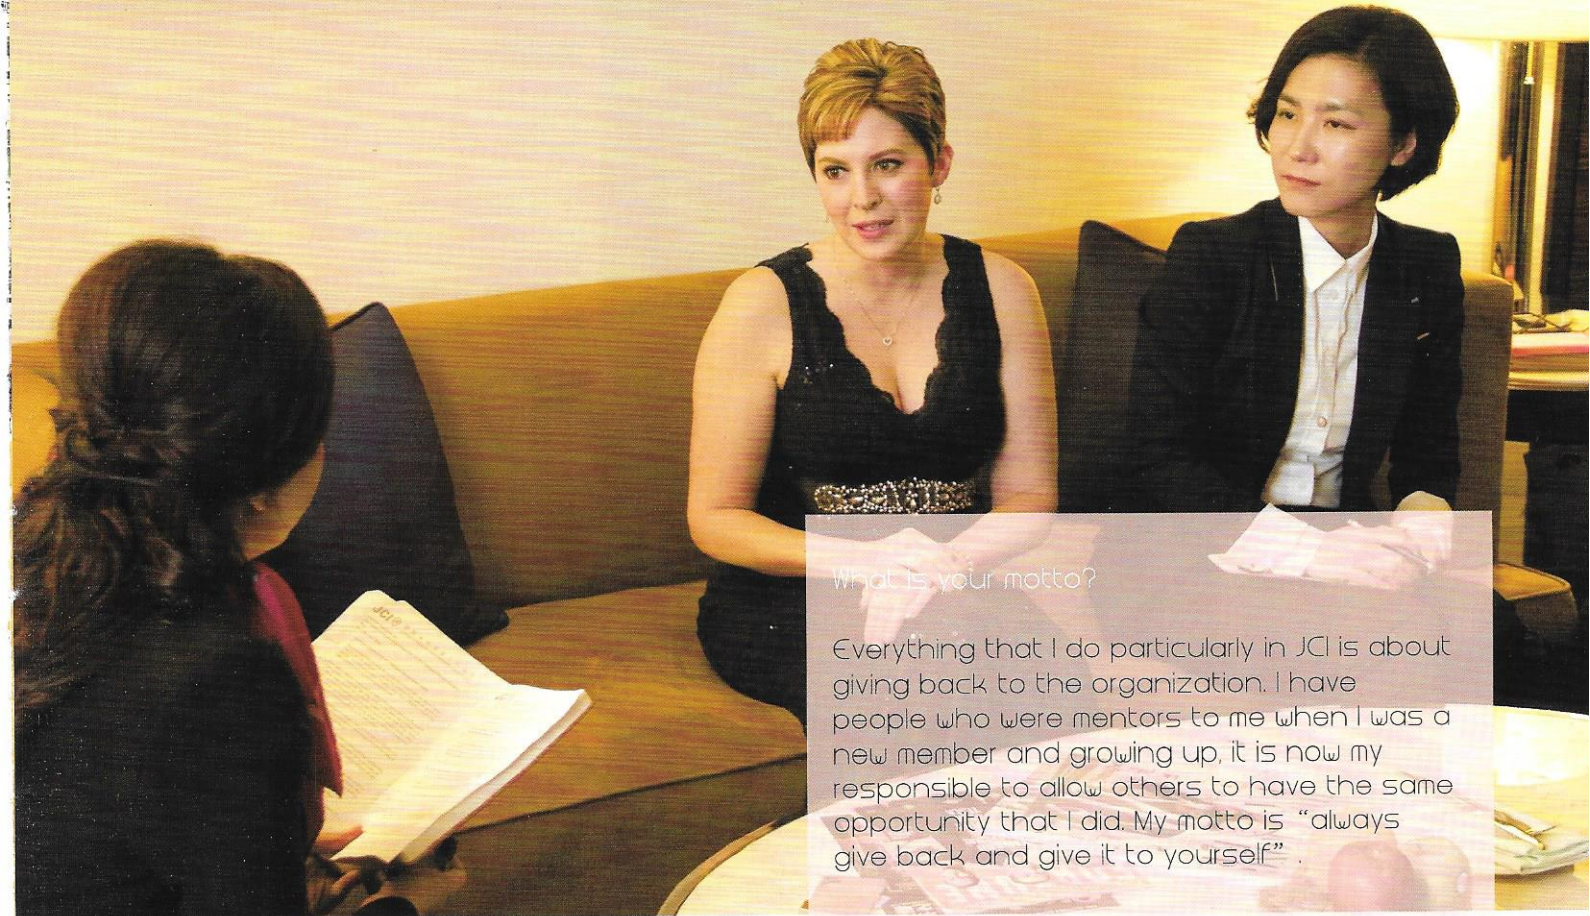

Amber TAM with JCI World President

How to encourage the youth to be more innovative and find solutions to tackle the poverty and hope for future?

There are so many issues as to why poverty exists, one of the things that we do with the active citizen framework is to drill down the root cause of poverty, encourage the local chapters to find the root cause, then figure out when we can do in our network of resource to help solve the root cause, and that will then help to reduce the overall poverty.

As JCI members and active citizens, we need to take the local perspective and figure out how things are related, and our partners and collaboration will help that too.

What is your motto?

Everything that I do particularly in JCI is about giving back to the organization. I have people who were mentors to me when I was a new member and growing up, it is now my responsible to allow others to have the same opportunity that I did. My motto is "always give back and give it to yourself".

What is your suggestion to unite change in JCI rather than just to recruit members?

We have to remember that members are the people who create the impact, when we create impact, people are drawn to that, we create change, we become change-maker in our community, it is not about the number of members, but the quality of members that you have, the quality of projects, the impact of projects, the lives that you touch in the community, how do you interactive with the community and reach out, how to create larger impact. That's what we need to focus on.

Women lead differently than men, what is your leadership style?

We should not be afraid to be who we are, we can only be ourselves, each of us have unique leadership style, unique way of interacting with people and the world, try not to confront to the world.

My personal leadership style is more collaborative, working with team, making sure everybody has a role, figure out what is each person's strength, putting together and making sure each person bringing in their strength to the big picture. As women, don't be afraid to be yourselves.

You need to travel to different countries frequently, how do you manage your eating habit in different culture and keep good health?

I try to be careful when I'm travelling, I do like to taste the local cuisine, enjoy the local culture, one of the fun things about travelling is experiencing different culture. Try to be careful, take care of myself, and also maintain a healthy style as much as I can. I try athlete at home, I run, I swim, I bike. I try to continue running even I'm on the road. One of my favorite things about travelling is going for a run in a new city and experiencing the culture, and continue to have exercise.

CHARITY FUNDRAISING RUN

Tany KWEE

Charity Fun Run was successfully held on 4 February.

On a sunny day with gentle breeze, brothers and sisters from both JCI and JCI Queensway gathered together to run not only for fun, but also for raising fund for our beneficiary - Christian Family Service Center.

What touches me is that all the OCs were passionate on helping the people in need. Reciprocally, the volunteers from the Scouts and beneficiary taught us the importance of united spirit - one little step closer can make our city a better place to live.

Thanks Chairlady Zoa Ng for bringing us such a wonderful opportunity to reach out and lending a helping hand to others. She ignited our passion and guided us to overcome every challenge ahead.

The founder of Hilton Hotels Chain Conrad Hilton once said, "The practice of charity will bind us - will bind all men in one great brotherhood". In love we blossom and serve. Let's continue with our spirit of JC through the service to community!

Bosco ONG

As a 米走雞 Charity Run OC, I am glad to see our charity event can be smoothly finished! Yeah!

Since this is our first time to hold such a big charity project, sometimes we would make mistakes, sometimes we would take a longer route to reach the target, it doesn't a matter. The point is our OC can learnt during the organising the event. During the event, we can build up our team spirit, we can polish our time management techniques etc. Thanks for our President Terry to invite me to be one of the OCs. Team, I like to work with you. We are the Queensway!!!

Chloe FU

It is my pleasure to join the OC team of NY Charity FUNdraising Running 米走雞慈善跑. It is not easy to prepare a totally new event without any reference and previous activity record to follow. However, we finally did it and I am proud of being one the pioneers! I learn so much from the team. We have different strength and weakness and we support each other to realize our goal. It is hard but it is absolutely worth-it. That is what we want to learn in JCI Queensway!

Chairlady Zoa NG

Run for a better world. We are living in chaos. We always feel depressed or upset in this city. It's hard to change, but we can make our world better little by little.

Our charity run - 米走雞慈善跑 was held on 4 Feb. With this fun run, we aimed to raise the awareness of mental health to our participants. We sincerely appreciate our beneficiaries, Christian Family Service Centre, volunteers from Hong Kong Scouts and Hong Kong St John Ambulance for giving unconditional supports. It was fun, meaningful and unforgettable.

Coeus LEUNG

米走雞 is a meaningful and healthy event. It gives positive impact to the society. I am happy to see participants enjoyed it that day. I would like to thanks Chairlady Zoe invited me to join her team. It is my pleasure to work with the teammates.

Wish Queensway will hold 米走雞 and more meaningful projects in coming years.

Kate KONG

I am so glad to become Organising Committee of this event. Since there was no running event in QJC before, I learnt a lot from this event such as booking the venue, coordinating with different parties, communicating with OCs and preparing the emergency plans. We have prepared 4 months for this event. Luckily, it was a great success.

March MFG was the first project I acted as OC in our Queensway family. It was so challenging and exciting to work on the project as an MC. Moreover, this was my honor to work with our clever and excellent OCs. I learned a lot from my teammates and treasured our friendship.

Tany KWEE

I am currently working as an English teacher in a government-aided secondary school. I received Master's degrees in both Philosophy and English Literature.

I was introduced by VP Campbell Ting. Having attending a MFG and the AGM, I was touched by the passion Queensway members demonstrated and decided to join and to be one of them.

JC is always a platform full of opportunities. Here I have acquired public speaking skills and leadership skills which are crucial at workplace. I am still on my journey of learning nevertheless.

Recalling all the precious moments, the Charity Fun Run held in February brought me the most fabulous memory ever in life. All the members committed themselves in the event and served the underprivileged ones in the society. It echoes with our JCI Creed - Service to humanity is the best work of life.

Jason TAM

Nice to meet you all. I am Jason Tam. I work as a police constable and graduated from Master of Counseling in City University of Hong Kong.

Several months ago, I had gotten the information from our President Terry, who told me that a workshop would be hold by JCI Queensway and Island toastmaster club. I joined the workshop and that was my first time to join our JCI activity. At that time, I was touched and inspired by our JCI Creed, especially service to humanity is the best work of life. As a social science student, one of my life visions was to build a better society. That's why I work as a police constable and that's why I join our JCI Queensway, so that I can work with people with the same belief and the greatest passion to serve our society.

As one of the OCs in our CD Project "Small change, big difference - Listen, Talk and Accept", I was so impressed with my teammates' cleverness, efficiency and caring to our society. This was my honor to work with them and unforgettable experience in my life.
