MESSAGE OF JCI Queensway President

Heidi Chong

2023 JCI Queensway President

Life is not about having everything; it is about finding meaning in everything!

During the past two years, we have been facing a series of challenges due to the pandemic. There is no doubt that the situation has been tough, but at the same time, it makes us stronger and more adaptable and teaches us what the most important thing in our life is. JCI Queensway has shown that our members are truly active citizens; the pandemic hasn't stopped us but rather pushed our beloved chapter to continuously grow and actively contribute to our community.

It is my great honour and pleasure to serve as the President of JCI Queensway in 2023 with the support of our beloved members. To me, the meaning of being President is to provide substantial assistance, right resources, and good environment for my members to grow and shine in their lives. I believe that everyone could have a better version of themselves and deserve a better life. The 2023 slogan “Nourish, Flourish and Inspire” well describes how we are going to grow together under the leadership of my 2023 Board of Directors.

I would like to take this opportunity to introduce a special friend to you all, Mr. CUBE. He will be with us in the coming year and lead us on our project campaigns and member recruitment. Through the projects, we will show our “C”aring and “U”nite our members and external parties to better serve the community. This year, with the help of respectable judges, we will continue to recognize those “B”usinesses and organizations who have displayed exceptional leadership and entrepreneurship in the wake of such turbulent economic times through our Chapter's flagship project “Extraordinary Branding Awards”. Meanwhile, we would like to arouse public awareness around the well-being of physically impaired people through our “Impairments Nourishing Program”. We encourage our members to “E”xplore more innovative ideas and solutions to create bigger impacts in the community.

“Nourish, Flourish & Inspire” serves as a road map to guide us on how to bring the best to our members with JCI RISE initiatives. We together LEAD to IMPACT.

Cheers to a New Year and New Chapter! We are ready to create a meaningful 2023, and let's Nourish, Flourish & Inspire together!

MESSAGE OF JCI Hong Kong National President

Senator Kenneth Yu

2023 JCI Hong Kong National President

As the new year begins, we at JCI, a global network of young leaders, are applying past experiences and our creativity to cultivate wisdom along our JC path, and to lead our members and those around us to make a positive impact to our community.

Since 1984, JCI Queensway has been at the forefront of empowering future young leaders through professionalism and training, and has contributed tirelessly to the betterment of the community while its members develop skills and social responsibility.

This year, President Heidi and her team aim to connect members with their inner-self and with their dreams and goals, along the chapter's theme of "Nourish, Flourish & Inspire". I am eager to see JCI Queensway events with the signature character "Mr. Cube" symbolizing Caring, United, Business and Exploratory - all being important values as we come back stronger than ever after the pandemic.

The theme for JCI Hong Kong this year is "Lead to Impact". It is our common goal to have our efforts intertwined with that of our local districts, various organizations as well as with JCI's vast international network, through which we may make JCI and our local chapter's well-organized projects known.

I sincerely look forward to the leadership from President Heidi, and let's wish JCI Queensway another successful year ahead!

MESSAGE OF National Assigned Executive Officer

Evan Leung

2023 JCI Hong Kong National Assigned Executive Officer

All things are difficult before they get easier, and the secret to success is constancy of purpose. Persistence, wisdom & inheritance are also the key elements to success and the most common example around us is trees. The mission of trees is to supply different kinds of protection to help preserve and nurture life. They have to experience many challenges before being able to grow from a seed to a tree.

JCI Queensway has already flourished into a mighty tree and has supported their members to become leaders. President Heidi and her team are ready to take on the challenge to be this tree and plant more seeds this year. The theme for 2023 is "Nourish, Flourish & Inspire" and will start a development program for members to become leaders that exhibit love, caring, and confidence. Hence, a new mascot will be created, called "Mr.CUBE" to represent President Heidi's vision for this program. This focus on training to impact echoes closely with the theme of JCI Hong Kong this year, "Lead to Impact."

It is my honor to be the National Assigned Executive Officer of JCI Queensway this year. I look forward to a rewarding and fruitful journey with you all, and I wish JCI Queensway great success in the year 2023!

MESSAGE OF Honorary Life Member

Senator Larry Lau

1990 JCI Hong Kong National President & 1985 JCI Queensway President

First of all, may I take this opportunity to wish Queensway and our members a most prosperous year in 2023.

2022 is certainly not an easy year for all of us! I must praise IPP Jesty and her Board for their courage and dedication to take up the different posts in this difficult time. I am confident Jesty should have no regrets for this important decision and 2022 will no doubt be a milestone for her. Congratulations to Jesty and her Board for achieving wonderful results last year!

Queensway members always introduce our chapter as a friendly and harmonious one, like a big family. This appears to be a compliment but may also mean a hindrance to its development! We have been going up and down for more than a decade. I ponder what nourishment Queensway really needs in order to flourish it. I draw the conclusion that we need some flagship projects and more importantly, strong leadership. I am glad we have established a signature project in the last two years, "The Extraordinary Branding Award". This is one step forward but certainly not enough!

To push the chapter to the medium size and a stronger one, we need some high calibre and committed leaders in a consecutive manner. How to recruit, groom and retain these leaders will involve recruitment and retention strategies. This is no an easy task. The Long Range Planning Committee may look into the matter and give suitable guidance and assistance to the chapter.

Finally, may I wish my message will inspire President Heidi and her team to provide the right nourishment to Queensway, flourishing it to a new height!

Extraordinary Branding Awards – Forecast

The Extraordinary Branding Awards was established by JCI Queensway in 2021 on the principle of strength through unity. For the next few years, our ambitions have only expanded - from the newly founded EBA Awardees Club to promote networking and collaboration opportunities, to increasing our compensation packages through media and international exposures. Through these, Our desire is for this award to benefit not only our local companies and members but also promote JCI's mission and RISE initiative: to rebuild and sustain local businesses and invest in youth entrepreneurship. We invite you to join us on our journey and look forward to seeing you at our EBA 2023!

Extraordinary Branding Awards – EBA Awardees Club establishment

To start a brand new public flagship project - Extraordinary Branding Awards (EBA), is really full of challenges. Without all JCI Queensway members' support, EBA could not have succeeded and sustained.

We established the Awardee Club to add more values to awardees. It is my honor to be the founding Chairman of this Club. There are two overarching goals for the Club which are to communicate, share their business ideas, and find new business opportunities among themselves. Secondly, a place to let our JCI Queensway members make friendships and to explore personal mentorship with those entrepreneurs.

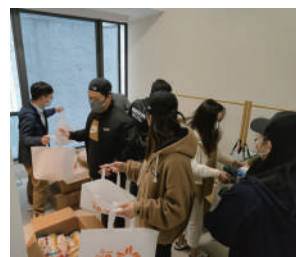

With the help of our members - Vanessa and Kapo, three types of activities will be planned which are volunteer work co-organized with Queensway or third-parties, site visits and business shadowing to awardees' offices, shops or even manufacturing centers. And lastly, we would like to create an opportunity for business exchange for further business partnerships.

My hope is for the Awardee Club to not only bring connections for both our beloved chapter - JCI Queensway and our members, but also bring us to a new height!

Jackie Wong
Awardees Club Chairman 2022

Extraordinary Branding Awards – EBA Service Day

In 2022, we presented 27 awardees the prestigious EBA in their respective categories. Not only were the awardees devoted to their industry fields, but they also exemplified great passion to give back to society. On 18 Dec 2022, JCI Queensway co-hosted a volunteer service with “18同行”, an organization aimed to provide support for low-income families. EBA awardees graciously donated essential supplies such as dried food, face masks, and testing kits, with several organizations sending representatives to help out on the day of the event. Altogether, more than 20 people joined the event and were able to interact and better understand those families that came in for assistance! We believe that love and service to humanity are the most powerful forces, impelling all of us to go into the communities and try to create a positive impact.

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

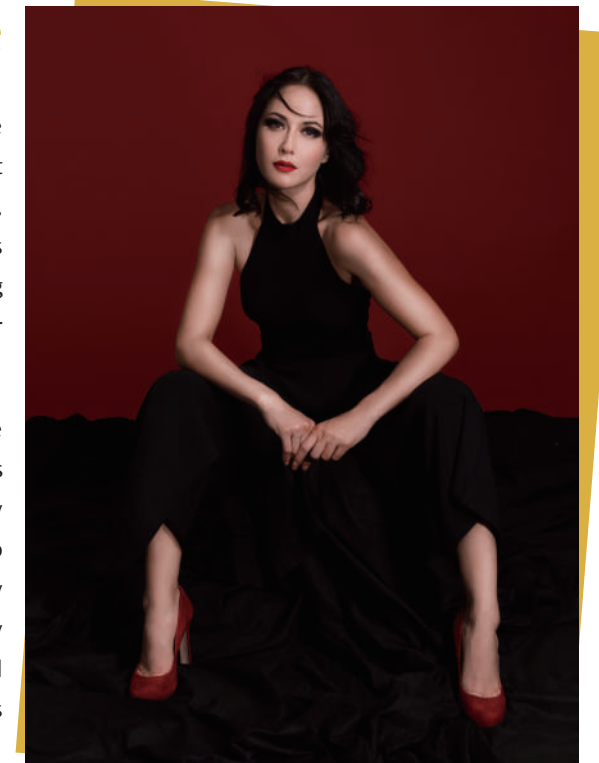

Grow & Glow Series - Queensway Wellness

An interview with Ankie Beilke

Humble beginnings:

Yoga was not always present within Ankie Beilke's life plans as one might think. During her university years, she began as an art student taking courses in New York. However, during the course of her studies, she began feeling stressed and overwhelmed by her workload. This eventually leaked into her life outside of school and started affecting her mood and relationships. This was the prelude that would lead her into what she described as “a change to my whole lifestyle”.

Ankie was first introduced to yoga by one of her friends who saw the strain that stress is causing in her life. However, at first, Ankie was reluctant in trying this new form of exercise, stating it to be unnecessary and doubting its effectiveness. Nonetheless, her friend continued to encourage Ankie to give yoga a chance, to the point where a birthday present one year, this friend gifted 3 yoga lessons to Ankie. To finally stop the pestering of her friend, she agreed to attend a yoga class, and then another one after that, and again after that. Yoga, since then, has become an inseparable part of her life.

Early year impacts:

The changes were slow, but clear in their effects on her life after that day. “...Much calmer and much happier” was how Ankie described the benefits that yoga had on her life early on. Described as a change to her entire lifestyle from that moment on, not only was she more fit physically, but her mentality got a huge boost also: she was no longer letting her stress affect the other parts of her life.

The momentum that yoga brought to Ankie's life cascaded down from only physical and mental exercises to her daily consumptions. Building upon her initial interest in cooking, she started to create a menu for fresh, whole foods to complement her healthier lifestyle. It's not only what you do, but also what you eat that defines how well you live.

Furthermore, through further exploration into yoga and meditation, Ankie was able to conceive another important lesson that helped her greatly reduce her everyday tension: minimalization. Fewer material possessions, less concern about external opinions, and be more connected with one's own natural aspects. Yoga is a whole lifestyle that you must embrace wholeheartedly or else it would not have an effective or lasting impact.

Journey into Becoming a Yoga Teacher:

History doesn't repeat is a popular saying, but in Ankie's case, this was not the case. Even though yoga has gradually become a defining character of her early adulthood, Ankie never considered in becoming a yoga instructor. Even though she forced many of her friends and family to follow her to attend yoga classes, Ankie never considered teaching these classes herself instead. Because why would she? Coming from an art background and already stressing from University courses, taking a degree in teaching never occurred to her as a viable path.

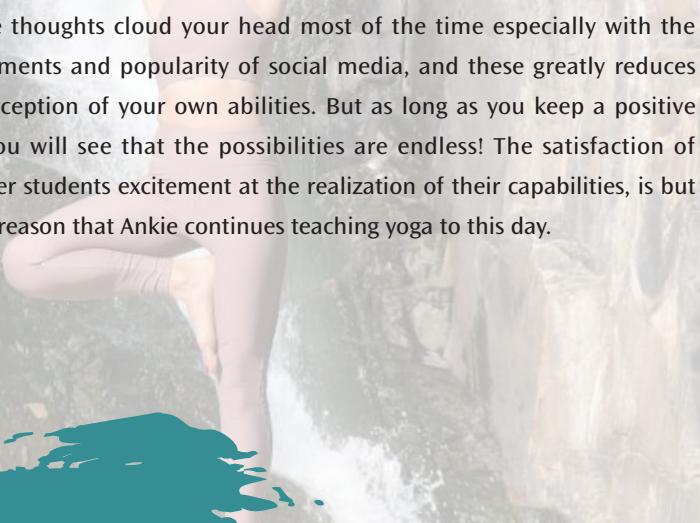

Self-doubt again stopped Ankie from pushing forward with yoga, and again it was her friends who gave her the nudge to carry on. Ankie's initial reasoning for taking her teacher training was to learn more about yoga and help her friends and family get better. But like any princess meets prince story (without the prince), she instantly fell in love with teaching when she felt the goodness and happiness of seeing how her classes brought benefits to her students.

"What I love the most about teaching is when people start doing things that they never thought they could do before."

Ankie then recounted a success story from early on of a student who had never done a headstand or different yoga poses before and doubted that they could ever do them. Within only a month, that same student was proudly doing one without help. Through the right teachings and encouragements, Ankie believes that anyone can learn to do a headstand (or at least if she's the one who's teaching).

Negative thoughts cloud your head most of the time especially with the advancements and popularity of social media, and these greatly reduces your perception of your own abilities. But as long as you keep a positive mind, you will see that the possibilities are endless! The satisfaction of seeing her students excitement at the realization of their capabilities, is but another reason that Ankie continues teaching yoga to this day.

Present Day:

Ankie now has her own studio and teaches a variety of types of yoga. To name a few include Vinyasa, hot yoga, yin yang yoga, and restorative yoga. One of the style of yoga that's personal to Ankie are her lessons targeting pregnant women. She described her time while she was pregnant and how yoga helped her power through some of the toughest months in her life. Before her experience, she was the type that goes to 3 yoga classes a day in addition to her regular schedule. However, while she got pregnant, this special style of yoga: the breathing exercises and different laying poses, achieved in slowing down her rhythm and improved her connection with her own body. And now she can use this particular experience to help out other soon-to-be mothers through relaxation and mindfulness.

Words to Those Starting Out:

The greatest challenge that those first starting out with yoga is that they will feel that all the poses feel different every new day that you do them. One day you may feel great and believe that you are doing the poses perfectly, while the next day you may feel extremely tight. Either way, you are correct. Your feeling is greatly affected by many factors such as: what you did that day, how well you slept the previous night, or even what you ate that morning. All these things I have struggled with daily and everyday it's different. But you should accept these differences because that is life. Do not let these struggles cause self-doubt in your abilities. What my years being involved with different aspects of yoga is that "Yoga is a whole lifestyle. By embracing the entire lifestyle, you will see your life changing for the better."

All In-to teammates had strong bonding, we had meetings from zoom to physical, we had joined Local Chapter Monthly Fellowship Gatherings as a promotion tour on promoting World Congress 2022 to our Hong Kong Delegates. The results came out 493 delegates applied to the Congress.

It's my honor to be part of the In-to team and have a wonderful experience through the whole journey.

Thank you JCI for exploring and expanding my worldwide and getting a very little step closer to the Global.

Agnes Cheung

OC of 2022 World Congress In-to Team

I was an OC member of the Awards and Closing Ceremony team of the World Congress. As the Ceremony is one of the first large scale physical events in recent years, numerous late nights were put into preparing the logistics, liaising with different parties, making last minute changes, packing souvenir packs with other helpers; those were all tiring but indelible happy memories. I am impressed by the level of competency and teamwork we JCIHK members can be, utilising our resources and specialties to put together a successful whole World Congress.

Attending General Assemblies was an eye opener as to see how meetings were held at a world level. I was honoured to meet and talk to some of our current and future leaders, including JCI President to exchange views on the future of JCI, this is a rare and precious chance.

Thank you JCI Queensway for giving me the chance to experience organising such a large event, I've learnt a lot from the process and hopefully can use this knowledge when we hold similar functions in the future.

LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT

JCI World Debating Championship

My team made it to the finals of the JCI World Debating Championship!

In the 2022 Junior Chamber International (JCI) World Congress Hong Kong, I attended the selection interview and represented JCI Hong Kong in the JCI World Debating Championship.

I had the opportunities to work with 2 dedicated teammates Jacqueline Yeung from JCI City Lady and Jeffery Leung from JCI Victoria. We worked through days and nights to brainstorm ideas and find information on 10 motions which were sent to us a few days before the debate competition. Most importantly, we have successfully entered the final round of the debate competition and competed with top debate teams from around the world on 3rd November, 2022!

My debate experiences in JCI Hong Kong began in the JCI World Public Speaking and Debating Championship (Hong Kong Selection) 2021 which was co-hosted by JCI Lion Rock and JCI Queensway. The competition format was similar to the JCI World Congress Debating Championship. We were given 10 motions on topics that address global issues. This helped me to become familiar with the JCI debating style and improve my critical thinking skills.

In order to recruit JCI Hong Kong English debate team members for the JCI World Debating Championship, members were invited to attend the selection interview at the end of September. With the aim to improve my debating skills and gain more relevant experiences, I grasped the chance to represent JCI Hong Kong in the JCI World Debating Championship. After the formation of the debate team, we had different training sessions including counter skills, debate concept, argument structure and debate rules. The training not only helped me improve my skills, but we also met members from other JCI Hong Kong chapters with common interests.

In the preliminary rounds, we stayed on until the end as late as 12 midnight (1pm Greenwich Mean Time). I was impressed that JCI Hong Kong prepared snacks and even roast goose for our supper. Last but not least, I would like to thank sincerely NIPP Winnie Yeung, NEVP Jonathan Wong and PP Nathan Wong for sharing their knowledge and experiences. Moreover, I am also grateful for the unfailing support of NEVP Victor Lam and NLDD Carl Chan in preparing for the debate competition.

Speaking structure

The call on whether to speak for or against takes place before the motion is announced. Each team member shall have 2 or 3 minutes to develop and present the position of their team; either for or against. The speaking order is as follow:

Team Captain For: 2 minutes	1st Speaker For: 3 minutes	2nd Speaker For: 3 minutes	Team Captain Against: 2 minutes
Team Captain Against: 2 minutes	1st Speaker Against: 3 minutes	2nd Speaker Against: 3 minutes	Team Captain For: 2 minutes

Debate rules

Teams will be notified of their motion before the start of the debate.

The first team drawn or the first team through to successive rounds will debate on the for side of the motion. Points are deducted when a speaker goes over or under the allotted time, i.e. 1-point is deducted for every second that a speaker exceeds or falls short of the ten-second buffer period.

Debate glossary

1. Timeouts

Each team is allowed one 60 second timeout during the debate. A timeout may only be called between speakers, immediately after a speaker has finished delivering their arguments and has stepped back from the podium. Team Captains must indicate to the Chairperson that their team wishes to use a timeout. The Timekeeper will inform the team when their 60 seconds are up.

2. Points of Information

Points of Information are for speakers to clarify an argument made during the debate competition. Only participating speakers can present a point of information. A speaker may refuse your point by saying "no thank you" or indicating with a gesture. If they refuse to yield to the floor, return to your seat. When the speaker indicates they will listen to your point, deliver it clearly and briefly, then return to your seat. There will be no conversation.

MEMBERSHIP AFFAIRS

Causal Gatherings

Throughout the year of 2022, the membership affairs team has been endeavoring to enhance bonding among members and recruit new members through a series of activities called “E起Q幸福”.

Despite the hardship during the peak of COVID in early to mid 2022, we engaged members to each other by organizing an online fun gathering with loads of interesting games. Followed the lift of COVID restrictions, the membership affairs team organized a number of events in a roll which included aromatherapy workshop, bowling cum singing day, Sa Sa Ladies' Purse, joint chapter halloween party and floor curling with over 20 members joining each gathering on average. Our members were highly enjoyably engaged with each other.

Prospective Member Orientation

To recruit more new members, the membership affairs team hosted 4 PMOs in February, May, August and November with 21 new members recruited in total. Following the PMOs, we co-hosted a “JCI Protocol Workshop” with the leadership development team to equip new members with knowledge of JCI, enabling them to have an easy start of JCI experience. At the same time, in order to nurture new members to grow, we arranged dinner gatherings for new members with President Jesty and past presidents. Both of them enjoyed the gatherings and our members were deeply inspired at the gatherings.

Lastly, we would take this opportunity to appreciate the full effort of President Jesty Cheung and MA advisor Senator Alison Lai. Also, thanks to the support and participation of all JCI Queensway members.

We wish the best for the membership affairs area in 2023.

I am Priscilla, currently a nursing student. Half a year ago, a new friend, PP Iris told me about JCI, she said that I could meet new friends there and widen my horizons. I am grateful that I could be a part of the OC team in the 38th AGM cum September MFG and started my journey in QJC. I hope to treasure all opportunities in JCI and make my life a fruitful one.

Just like the motto of JCI Queensway...one of my main reasons to join this big family is to achieve the goal of Grow to gather and glow together. We are like small pieces of puzzles but if we work together we can build a big picture. My personal motto is “seek to be worth knowing rather than being well known”. Hope I can be the “missing piece” JCI Queensway has been looking for in the future. I will try my best and God will do the rest!

SENIOR MEMBERS CLUB

First of all, I would like to thank the four past presidents Athena SIU, Samuel CHAN, Lucy JIANG and Jesty CHEUNG for inviting me to serve as the 2020-2022 senior members club chairman of JCI Queensway.

In the first year of SMCC, we have no activity in 2020 due to the severity of COVID-19. In the second year of SMCC, the Seafood Dinner was our first SMCC event on April 25, 2021. Some members of the senior members club have joined us.

In August 2021, we invited our President Jesty to teach us yoga. It was the first ever yoga experience for some of us. We learned a lot of health information.

SMC's first online event, the Online Mahjong Competition, was successfully held on 18 April 2022. Thank you to the 32 QJC members, past presidents, NAO Rosanna, P Jesty, IPP Lucy, other chapter JC members and new friends for supporting this casual gathering. Congratulations to Senator Alison Lai for winning the champion, James Yuen for the 1st runner-up, Agnes Cheung for the 2nd runner-up and Wing Poon for the 3rd runner-up!

At the Teppanyaki lunch on 23 July 2022, we ate a lot of seafood. Thanks again to Past President Senator Man for taking us to try new dishes. We are grateful to have such an enjoyment. Every participant was very satisfied.

We also enjoyed the buffet dinner at Happy Valley Racecourse on 19 October 2022 and the Oktoberfest at Football Club on 22 October 2022.

Both of the events provided good opportunities for members to interact and thus enhance our bonding. Thank you to Past President Senator Iris for introducing this event again.

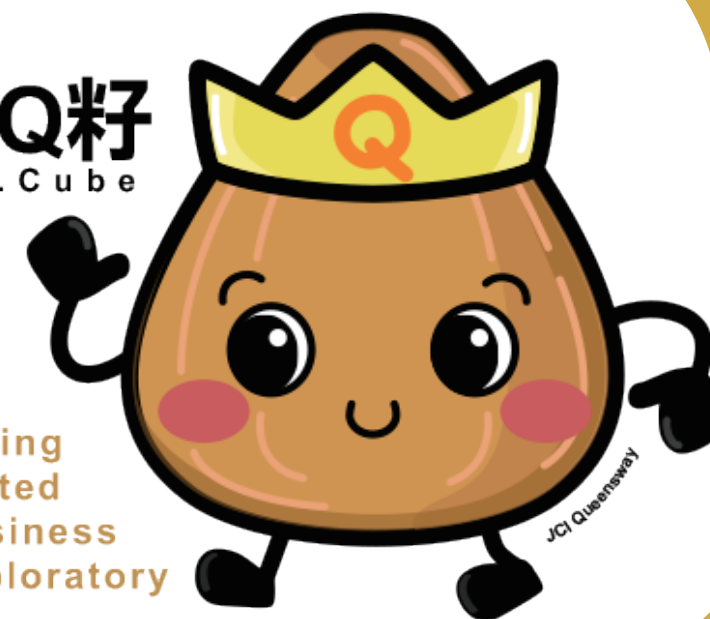

I would also like to thank my mother chapter JCI Queensway for their support.

Thankfulness also goes to senior members and ordinary members who have been so supportive for senior members club events and activities for the three years. I do hope all members can enjoy this year.
